The 12 finalists for the Her Art Prize 2026

The internationally recognised prize for women artists at Art Paris 2026, initiated by Marie Claire magazine and in partnership with Maison Boucheron.

Twelve finalists for the Her Art Prize 2026 have been selected by art consultant, curator and Marie Claire contributor Marion Vignal, in collaboration with Art Paris fair director Guillaume Piens:

- Kenia Almaraz Murillo (b. 1994, Bolivia) – Galerie Waddington-Custot
- Alice Bidault (b. 1994, France) – Galerie Pietro Sparta
- Shilpa Gupta (b. 1976, India) – Galleria Continua
- Janet Laurence (b. 1947, Australia) – Cassandra Bird Gallery
- Christiane Löhr (b. 1965, Germany) – Argo Fine Arts
- Juanita McLauchlan (b. 1975, Australia) – Cassandra Bird Gallery
- Otobong Nkanga (b. 1974, Nigeria) – In Situ – Fabienne Leclerc & Lumen Travo Gallery
- Sarah Ouhammadou (b. 1986, France / Morocco) – Galerie Polaris
- Nazanin Pouyandeh (b. 1981, Iran) – Templon
- Elsa Sahal (b. 1975, France) – Galerie Papillon
- Mary Sibande (b. 1982, South Africa) – Everard Read
- Sandra Vásquez de la Horra (b. 1967, Chile) – Galerie Bendana | Pinel Art Contemporain

This very international selection showcases committed women from different generations (from 32 years old for the youngest to 79 for the oldest), whose work encompasses themes in connection with the environment and the living world (Alice Bidault, Janet Laurence, Christiane Löhr); the violence to which women are subjected and the wounds of history and its injustices (Otobong Nkanga, Nazanin Pouyandeh, Shilpa Gupta, Mary Sibande); or the search for identity and memories of ancestral gestures (Sandra Vasquez de la Horra, Juanita McLauchlan, Elsa Sahal, Kenia Almaraz Murillo, Sarah Ouhammadou).

The Her Art Prize was launched in 2025 as a result of a partnership between Art Paris, Marie Claire and Maison Boucheron. It rewards the career of a unique woman artist and a strong body of work that has contributed to moving the lines. A prestigious jury comprising personalities from the arts and creative industries and presided over by actor and artist Louise Bourgoïn will come together to choose a winner from among the dozen or so finalists selected from among this year's exhibitors. The winner will receive the Her Art Prize and 30,000 euros in prize money presented by Hélène Poulit-Duquesne, CEO of Maison Boucheron at Art Paris 2026 during a ceremony organised on Saturday 11 April. In addition, the winning artist will benefit from a domestic and international promotional campaign expertly organised by Marie Claire and Art Paris.

THE HER ART PRIZE 2026 JURY:

Louise Bourgoïn, actor, artist and president of the jury • Alice Diop, filmmaker • Erin Jeona Gilbert, curator • Raphaël Haroche, author, singer, composer • Michèle Lamy, artist, entrepreneur, producer and performer • Valentine Lecêtre, Art Paris CEO • Galia Loupan, chief content officer, Marie Claire International • Camille Morineau, director of AWARE and curator • Hélène Poulit-Duquesne, Maison Boucheron CEO • Katell Pouliquen, editor-in-chief, Marie Claire France
